PROSPECTUS.

The St. Louis University, an educational institution with literary, scientific and philosophical courses of study, was founded in 1829, by members of the Society of Jesus. It was incorporated by an act of the State Legislature of Missouri, on December 28, 1832, under the name and style of ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY, and empowered to confer degrees and academical honors in all the learned professions, and generally "to have and enjoy all the powers, rights and privileges exercised by literary institutions of the same rank." Originally situated on Washington avenue, between Ninth and Eleventh streets, in the city of St. Louis, it was transferred in 1888 to its present location, on Grand avenue and West Pine boulevard.

The undergraduate studies pursued in the University comprise the Doctrines and Evidences of the Catholic Religion: Logic, Metaphysics, Ethics; a complete course of classical training in Latin, Greek and English; Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Mathematics; History, Geography; Commercial Law, Book-keeping, German and French.

The method of distributing these courses is explained more at large in this catalogue, under the special heading, COURSES OF INSTRUCTION. The object aimed at, in the system of teaching and training, is to develop all the mental and moral faculties of the students by means of a liberal education. This is attained through the discipline of a regular college curriculum.

The present catalogue contains a report of the undergraduate courses alone. For graduation, it is necessary to complete the full set of courses, comprised under the heading, CLASSICAL CURRICULUM, in the chapter on THE COURSES OF INSTRUCTION. The degree conferred is that of Bachelor of Arts, which is attained by giving satisfaction in the examinations held at the end of the Curriculum. The degree of Master of Arts may be obtained subsequently, by devoting a second year to the continued study of Philosophy in the Institution, or by two years of application to the pursuit of a learned profession. Students of the Commercial Curriculum, as laid down in the chapter referred to, receive an Honorary Certificate on completing their studies.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

The Scholastic Year. The scholastic year consists of one session of ten months, beginning on the first Monday in September, and closing on the last Wednesday in June. The session is divided into two terms, one ending on or about the first day of February, the other, with the Annual Commencement Exercises, in the last week of June.

Admission. Every candidate for admission, who is not personally known to some member of the Faculty, must present testimonials of his good moral character. If he comes from another college, he will be required to bring a certificate of his good standing in the institution which he has left. The religious opinions professed by any one form no obstacle to his admission. Still, all will be expected to show a respectful conformity, in the ordinary exercises of public prayer at the College.

Grading and Promotion. When a student is admitted into the College, he is examined by the Prefect of Studies, and placed in the class for which his previous attainments have qualified him. Promotions ordinarily take place at the beginning of the first term. Students, however, may be advanced to a higher class at any time; in which case the promotion is held to be equivalent to receiving the honors of the lower class, and is recorded in the annual catalogue.

Examinations, Quarterly and Annual. The progress of each student is inspected and his standing in class determined by partial examinations, called competitions, which are held four times a year, and by the annual examination, held at the close of the year. Failure in showing the prescribed degree of proficiency which is required at the annual examination, will debar the student from advancing to a higher class. In the class of philosophy, which terminates in graduation, only two of these tests are applied, each being a full examination of a half-year's work.

Reports of Class-Standing. Several times a year reports are sent to parents or guardians, informing them of the conduct and progress of their sons or wards. Special attention is called to the article in the COLLEGE RULES subjoined, with regard to the co-operation, expected by the College authorities, from the responsible persons who receive these reports.

Home-Study and Daily Lessons. All the endeavors of the officers and faculty will fail to insure success, unless the students apply to their studies, with diligence and constancy, outside of class-hours. It is, therefore, respectfully urged upon parents that they themselves require their sons to devote two or three hours every evening to the study of their class-lessons: and that, in case of non-compliance on the part of the students, they notify the Prefect of Studies, or Vice-President. Students who come without their lessons prepared, or their written exercise ready, are looked upon as morally absent: and, like absentees, they must bring written excuses from their parents, to save themselves from censure on this head.

Regularity and Punctuality. Students must not be kept at home, nor detained, on school-days, except for grave reasons; in which case, as also in case of tardiness, a note of excuse from the responsible persons is invariably required. Frequent absence or tardiness, except on account of illness, is sufficient cause for permanent dismissal. The interests of each student, as well as of the whole class to which he belongs, are involved in the observance of order, punctuality and regularity.

Politeness. The College expects from all its students the manners and deportment of young gentlemen, and endeavors to advance the practice of perfect decorum at all times and everywhere within the premises. For conduct outside of the premises it does not hold itself responsible. In justice to itself, however, it must take cognizance of any serious charge, if substantiated, against a student for misconduct outside.

Discipline. Any serious neglect of points so essential to the proper conduct of the Institution as punctual attendance, strict obedience, assiduous application and blameless conduct, will be visited on the offender with effective correction, and even with permanent dismissal, if this be deemed necessary. The COLLEGE RULES lay down what is expected of the students by the Faculty of this Institution.

Cadet Drill. An officer of the U. S. Army, whose name and rank are to be seen in the list of the Faculty, has been detailed by the President of the United States as Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the St. Louis University. The regular military drill of this department, with calisthenic exercises, promotes the physical development of the students, the propriety of bearing, and habits of order, precision and obedience. The cadets enrolled in the battalion contract no obligation to be called upon for military service, either by the State or the general government. Admission into the cadet battalion is granted to students by the authorities of the University, on receiving the written consent of parents or guardian. The enrolment of a student as cadet must be for a term of, at least, two years, supposing that he remains at the College; otherwise the full advantages of the training would not be secured. The government supplying the arms and accoutrements, and the University meeting other incidental expenses, it devolves on each cadet to furnish his own uniform, which is of a style to serve at all times as an ordinary dress-suit. See under the heading, EXPENSES. For the organization of the cadet battalion, its companies and officers, see under the heading, MILITARY ORGANIZATION.

Responsible Guardians. No boarders or half-boarders are received at the College. Students who board in the city must have guardians to whom the authorities can easily refer, as well for matters concerning the school-training as for business arrangements. The President or Vice-President should be promptly informed of any change of address.

Withdrawal of Students. When the withdrawal of students is contemplated, due notice should be given to the College authorities.

Morals and Religion. To attain the satisfactory results of complete culture, both mentally and morally, the educational system of the St. Louis University combines the careful practice of religious duties with the exercises in literary and scientific studies. Catholic students are required to approach the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist at least once a month. In conformity with the practice of other Colleges, those pupils who have not made their First Communion, but have attained the proper age, will receive all preparatory instructions, and receive Holy Communion, under the direction of the College Faculty.

COLLEGE RULES.

Such of the COLLEGE RULES as it is important for parents and guardians to know are subjoined here:—

Hours of Attendance and Dismissal.

The University is open every morning at eight o'clock. Those who arrive before the time for the first duty proceed at once to the Study-hall, and devote the interval to private study. All are required to be present five minutes before half-past eight o'clock, at which hour the Catholic students hear Mass. At nine o'clock a. m., the regular exercises of class begin, closing at three o'clock p. m.

The Noon-Recess.

Those who do not go home during noon-recess, from 11:50 to 12:45, remain under College supervision. A lunch room is provided for the accommodation of such as bring their lunch with them. If any buy their lunch or take it outside of the College, they are required to report within the precincts immediately afterwards.

Detention after Class-Hours.

It is understood that the students return home when the College doors are closed. Classes being over at three p. m., a boy may be detained for sufficient cause by his Professor, or he is allowed to recreate on the grounds till four o'clock; the cadet drill or instruction ends at four o'clock; then the College is closed. Attendance at the drill on stated days, three times a week, is as strictly obligatory for the cadets as attendance at the ordinary classes.

The Weekly Recreation.

Thursday is the weekly recreation day. As it is intended for a certain amount of relaxation in the middle of the week, it is understood that the day is not to be spent in idleness, but must have its own share of study. It is counted on by Professors, no less than Sunday, as affording more leisure, particularly for composition.

If these days are allowed to be whiled away in mere idleness or distraction, the lessons of Mondays and Fridays are found to be less well prepared than those of other days.

Reports:
Cards, etc.

The reports sent home at certain periods by the Prefect of Studies should be returned at once, signed by parent or guardian. The time devoted by the student to home-study should be carefully stated, as the report requires, and as the interests of the pupil demand. The Professor receives thereby some guidance for the formation of his judgment. Cards, or testimonials of good conduct and diligence, are given monthly, and should be demanded by parents on the first day of every month. Notices of absence, sent by the Vice-President, should be answered immediately, in the sense of the information desired regarding the absentee.

Rewards and Annual Premiums.

The results of the three first quarterly tests or competitions, in October, December and February, are read out in presence of the Faculty and the entire body of students. Rewards are given for excellence: and the names of those who have distinguished themselves are announced. At the end of June, on occasion of the public annual commencement, medals and premiums are bestowed for excellence in the work of the whole year. The conditions for gaining these honors are mentioned briefly in this catalogue, under the heading, ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT: AWARD OF PREMIUMS.

UNIVERSITY POST-GRADUATE COURSE.

The object of this course is primarily to enable college graduates to continue their philosophical, scientific, historical and literary studies. Attendance is, however, not restricted to graduates. All gentlemen who can follow the lectures with profit and interest are admitted. The great issues of the day are elucidated and discussed. While the treatment of themes is highly scientific, simplicity of method and style is industriously preserved. Professional gentlemen will find the course of the greatest utility, and business men will derive from the lectures an intimate acquaintance with the questions that agitate the world of science and of learning.

Degrees are conferred at the end of the course, but only on such gentlemen as have already received academic honors. The degrees obtainable are those of Master of Arts and Bachelor of Philosophy. For the former, one year's attendance is required; for the latter, two.

Application for a degree can be made only after regular attendance at the lectures and should be submitted at least two months before the close of the session. An essay, on some assigned topic, will be required from each applicant.

The course opens on the second Monday in October, and closes about the middle of April, with an intermission of three weeks at Christmas. The lectures have been delivered on Monday and Wednesday evenings, at 8 p. m.

Season ticket for the entire course.....	$10 00
Fee for Diploma.....	10 00

A select public has been admitted to some lectures, in which certain prominent subjects, belonging to Post-Graduate studies, have been presented in a more popular form.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

The Courses* of Instruction are distributed into the Classical Curriculum and the Commercial Curriculum.

I.

CLASSICAL CURRICULUM.

The Classical Curriculum is designed to impart a thorough liberal education. In the accomplishment of this purpose the Ancient Classics hold the first place as the most efficient instrument of mental discipline. Besides Latin, Greek and English, the Curriculum embraces Religious Instruction, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Astronomy and Mathematics, History, Literature, the Natural Sciences — in a word, all the usual branches of a complete education. It has been found, by long experience, that the Classical Curriculum alone fully develops all the faculties, forms a correct taste, teaches the student how to use all his powers to the best advantage and prepares him to excel in any pursuit, whether professional or commercial.

The Curriculum is divided into two departments, Collegiate and Academic.
